

Centre of African Studies Public Seminars | Lent 2019

Race and African Studies

Mondays at 5pm in Room S1
Alison Richard Building, 7 West Road, Cambridge

28 January | Abidemi Babalola, University of Cambridge

On the Intersection of Science, Technology, and Race in Africa - Perspectives from Early Glass Making

4 February | Simukai Chigudu, University of Oxford

Blindspots – Or, is it ethical for white people to study Africa?

11 February | Adam Branch, University of Cambridge

African Studies Centres – Questions of Decolonisation

18 February | Leslie James, Queen Mary University of London

Ghana and the Worlds of C.L.R. James

*28 February | Panel Discussion, LG19, Faculty of Law

Slavery and its Legacies at Cambridge

4 March | David Austin, John Abbott College, Canada

Out of the Shadows, and Towards a New World: The Congress of Black Writers at 50

11 March | Sabine Cadeau, University of Cambridge

Anti-Africanism in Twentieth-Century Dominican Republic

*Please note date and venue change, start time remains the same

All welcome, refreshments are served after the seminar